

Motorola Six Sigma[®] Launch Package

— a Scalable Solution for Six Sigma Implementation

Program Candidates

Six Sigma Launch Packages are specifically designed for small to mid-size companies that want to experience the dramatic benefits of Six Sigma Business Improvement.

Program Overview

A Motorola Six Sigma Launch Package combines onsite interventions for your organization with Motorola University open enrollment training.

- Leadership Jumpstart – conducted onsite with your leadership team. Its purpose is to align your Six Sigma Business Improvement efforts with your overall organizational strategy and goals. We help you select high-impact Black Belt/Green Belt improvement projects.
- Black Belt Program – an open enrollment program for the candidates who will lead your prioritized improvement projects.
- Green Belt Program – an open enrollment program for candidates who will support the Black Belts or lead less complex improvement projects.
- Project Coaching – onsite expert support to help your candidates apply the tools and techniques taught in training to their assigned improvement projects.

Program Scope

We work with you to match your business goals and budget to the appropriate:

- number of Black Belts and/or Green Belts,
- number of projects, and
- amount of project coaching.

For Six Sigma to succeed, your organization needs a strategy to support your training efforts. Merely sending candidates to training may not deliver the results you envision. Motorola University helps you make your desired results a reality by:

- linking your strategy to your training efforts and
- providing just-in-time coaching.

Launch to Success

Our Launch Package ensures that your organization:

- selects a manageable list of high-impact improvement projects,
- receives expert assistance in driving the projects to timely completion,
- accomplishes the desired business results, and
- achieves the maximum return on investment.
